The sins that shine are the surest to kill.

A fool carries his name in his mouth.

Sin always carries a knife under its cloak.

A fool never learns anything from a mistake.

No man does his best who works only for pay.

If we could not suffer we would not need love.

Whatever Christ did for himself he can do for us.

The cheerful giver is always the one who gives much.

The devil never throws any stones at a man on the fence.

We rob God whenever we give our neighbor light weight.

The man is a thief who is honest only because he is watched.

The devil won't let a stingy man have any mercy on himself.

The man who has the devil's war is sure to have God's peace.

The birds with the brightest feathers do not sing the sweetest.

The sheep that goes astray never finds a green pasture for itself.

When you find yourself weak take Christ for your strength.

There have been many religions, but only one Christ.

God made the Christian home to help tell men what heaven is.

The yoke of Christ is easy only on the willing neck.

A policeman stops being an optimist when he puts on his blue coat.

If we were not capable of suffering, we would have no need of love.

Christ was not obliged to die. He willingly laid down his life for us.

Whenever God gives us a trial, it is that we may be the gainer by it.

Put your hand in God's hand, and it will not matter if your feet do slip.

Whoever would learn how to talk well, must learn how to keep still.

How much public praying there is done to which no answer is expected.

The more a man loves God the less it hurts him to be mistreated by men.

No greater thing can be done than to love God and keep his commandments.

No matter how much we get, we only get to lose, unless we also get Christ.

About the poorest business a Christian can engage in, is borrowing trouble.

If you are a Christian, it is your privilege to cast all your care upon Christ.

It is not God's will that any religious meeting should ever be held without results.

God will always hear us when we pray, if we kneel down on his side of the line.

There isn't any religion in going without sleep at night to run down the church.

Instead of "putting off the old man" some people go in for dressing him up and sending him to college.

Every once in a while the devil makss some man believe he can be a Christian without belonging to a church.

How much God is like a mother. He not only watches the footsteps of his children, but he listens to hear their cry.

The man who can pay his debts and won't do it will some day live in a world where all like he will be locked up.

The farmer who tries to earn his bread by the sweat of a hired man's brow will have to go with pie for breakfast.

The devil is not throwing very many stones at the man who is not as religious in business as he is in prayer meeting.

If angels hear all the preaching that is being done down here it must puzzle them to make out what some preachers are aiming at.

Household Hints.

Prick a nutmeg with a pin, and if it is fresh and good oil will instantly spread around the puncture.

A little saltpetre added to the water in which cut flowers are put will keep the flowers fresh a long time.

To ascertain if an egg is fresh put it in a pail of water. If good it will sink immediately; if it floats it is doubtful.

To remove tar from any kind of cloth, saturate the spot and rub it well with turpentine, and every trace of the tar may be removed.

If brooms are dipped in a pail of hot suds for a minute or two once a week it will make them tough and pliable and they will last much longer.

Fresh meat should not be allowed to remain ailed in paper, for the paper will absorb the juices. Remove the paper and lay the meat on an earthen plate.

To extract the juice from an onion cut the onion in half and press it against and move it slowly over a grater. The juice will run off the point of the grater.

Silk or ribbons that are to be packed away should be rolled in brown paper, as the chloride of lime in white paper will discolor them. White satin should be folded in blue paper, and a brown paper put outside and pinned closely together at the edges.

To bronze a plaster of paris figure cover it with a thick coating of shellac varnish. When this is dry, mix some bronze powder with the varnish and apply to the figure, then cover with another coat of clear varnish.

Your hoarseness will be quickly cured by the following homely treatment: Roast a lemon until it is soft all through; do not allow it to burst. While still hot cut a piece from the end and fill the lemon with as much granulated sugar as it will hold. Then eat it while hot.

A shelf over the door in a dining-room is an excellent place for large and highly-colored pieces of china, which may thus be made very ornamental to the room. Many of the new houses are finished with a narrow shelf around the dining-room walls at the height of the door; it is intended for plaques.

Palms, rubber plants and all foliage plants used in the house should have a weekly washing. Using a soft cloth or sponge, each leaf should receive a light washing with a lukewarm water, and the soil should be loosened about the roots. Plants breathe through their leaves, and can not grow well unless they are kept free from dust.

REV. STONE, a temperance lecturer spent four days and nights here having come under the auspicious of the W. C. T. U. of this place. His lectures were illustrated by magic lantern views and they were as fine as any we ever saw. Sunday night we heard him for the first time. His text was from Zac. 24. "Run Speak to that Young Man." A large part of the sermon was taken up giving several reasons why he should run and speak to that young man. Among other things he said, it is more difficult for a young man to secure a position now of trust than it ever was before. Large corporations will not employ men whose habits are questionable. One young man was an agent for a popular railroad—one of his bondsmen saw him one day playing cards in a box car with some negroes. Soon after he discovered him away from duty and huting him up, found him in the woods drinking with a party of friends. He made up his mind that he would not do to trust so he reported him. In a short time he was paid off and relieved of his office, with little prospect of soon recovering his position. He emphasized the fact that young men now are watched very closely and cannot hide their bad habits very long. We hope to see the day that the young men will profit by this attention given them and see that they form correct habits in early life. President Hemenway, of Pritchett Institute, followed in a short talk, and said he would have said Amen, a number of times if he had been raised that way, since he was not he arose to publicly endorse the lecture in his own way. This was followed by dissolving views thrown on a very large canvass, the subject was "Where is my boy tonight." The lecturer and his traveling companion are remembered here, closing their engagement with Tuesday evening's entertainment. —Glasgow Missourian.

An Absent-Minded Man.

The absent-minded man took his seat at the restaurant table, and, as usual, buried his face at once in a newspaper. A waiter placed a bill-of-fare, a napkin and a knife and fork in front of him and stood two or three minutes unnoticed before asking: "What shall I bring you, sir?" "What's that?" said the absent-minded man, starting up suddenly, not remembering what it was all about. "What do you want for lunch, sir?" the waiter asked again. "Oh! yes," said the absent-minded, trying to collect his wits. "Bring me a cup of coffee and a ham sandwich." The waiter supplied the order and put a large pasteboard check for it down on the table, the absent-minded man continuing to read his paper. The waiter went away to attend to the wants of other people, and about 15 minutes later came back. "Do you wish anything more?" he asked, politely. "Yes," snapped the absent-minded man, somewhat viciously. "Go and get me a fresh ham sandwich. The one you brought me was as dry as a bone." "Why, here is the sandwich I brought, sir," said the waiter, pushing the plate toward him. "You've eaten the check." —Chicago Times-Herald.

Weak, Irritable, Tired

"I Was No Good on Earth."

Dr. Miles' Nervine strengthens the weak, builds up the broken down constitution, and permanently cures every kind of nervous disease.

"About one year ago I was afflicted with nervousness, sleeplessness, Creeping sensation in my legs, Slight palpitation of my heart, Distracting confusion of the mind, Serious loss or lapse of memory. Weighted down with care and worry. I completely lost appetite and felt my vitality wearing out. I was weak, irritable and tired. My weight was reduced to 100 lbs. In fact I was no good on earth."

A friend brought me Dr. Miles' book, "Now and Startling Facts," and I finally decided to try a bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Before I had taken one bottle I could sleep as well as a 10-yr.-old boy. My appetite returned greatly increased.

When I had taken the sixth bottle my weight increased to 170 lbs. The sensation in my legs was gone; my nerves steadied completely; my memory was fully restored. My brain seemed clearer than ever. I felt as good as any man on earth. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a great medicine. I assure you."

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

If not done before, now is a good time to preserve and turn up the grape vines.

Better results can be received by feeding the young stock separate from the old.

With all stock, two extremes, over-feeding and underfeeding, are to be avoided.

All animals that die of a contagious disease should be burned as soon as possible.

It is rarely a good plan to change the line of production, simply because prices are low.

A failing appetite is generally the first indication that a farm animal is out of condition.

Considerable of the diseases among farm stock are directly traceable to injudicious feed and care.

Either milk or calves that would ultimately make large beefers, should be the object in keeping cows.

The ewes that are expected to lamb soon should be given plenty of opportunity to take outdoor exercise.

It does not pay to feed the products of the farm to ungrowthy stock, much less to buy feed for such animals.—Farmers' Union.
